

Casting Call for OddSocks 2022 (In-Person “live” performance)

Overview:

Directed by Isabella Chiam, OddSocks is a fun and quirky physical theatre production about accepting yourself for who you are and celebrates the importance of being different in a world of sameness. With a little magic, a dash of humour and lots of socks, this performance discovers we are all different and alike in many ways, but also intimately connected to one another.

Aimed at children 3-8 years old and their grown-ups, this highly interactive performance embraces and discovers how wonderful differences can be. Get ready to spot the odd sock!

Oddsocks was first incubated at The Artground under the GroundBreakers programme 2019 and part of the 'Invited Artists' Performance' at KidsConnect 2019. The 2022 version is supported by Gateway Arts' Springboard – a new presentation platform that identifies, develops and presents original plays by emerging and established collectives/groups that have the potential to be spring-boarded onto a bigger stage.

Five Stones Theatre is committed to supporting and promoting equality, diversity and inclusion in our practices and work environment. We particularly welcome people from different backgrounds and abilities to apply; preferably those interested in devising and/or might have some experience in one or more of the following areas:

- Clowning
- Physical Theatre

About Five Stones Theatre

Five Stones Theatre is a collective dedicated to creating quality dance and theatre productions for children and young people. Named after a popular traditional childhood game in Singapore, we seek to ignite curiosity and imagination in our audiences by offering them ‘something a little different’. By connecting artists and audiences through a range of work that is honest, refreshing and thought-provoking, we invite children from all cultures into a conversation about art and the world we live in.
